Lloyd Campbell Bird

Senator Bird was born at Valley Center, Highland County, Virginia, on August 1, 1894. He received his early education in the public schools, Randolph Macon Academy, and the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy. He has been licensed as a pharmacist since 1917.

He is currently president of Phipps & Bird, Inc., a Richmond concern which deals in chemicals, pharmaceuticals, and technical equipment. Senator Bird has devoted many years to the service of his profession in the scientific field and, in addition, has found time to give to the field of public service. He has been a member of the State Senate since 1944, and is recognized as one of the most able members of that body. He is one of the two "life members" of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association and is a member of a number of professional and civic organizations. He has served as president of the Southern Association of Science and Industry and the Virginia Academy of Science. He has served the Alumni Association as president and is currently a member of the Board of Trustees. In 1951, he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by the Medical College of Virginia. He resides in Chesterfield County and is a member of the Methodist Church.

Walter Carlton Elliott, M.D.

Dr. Elliott was born in Gladys, Virginia, on February 1, 1903. He was educated at the University of Richmond and the Medical College of Virginia. A member of the House since 1952, Dr. Elliott is active as a member of the Southwestern Virginia Medical Society, the Medical Society of Virginia, American Medical Association, and the Virginia Academy of General Practice. He is a busy practitioner, who has found the time to be of service to his state and community in public office. He is a Lion, Mason, and Shriner; is active in the Baptist Church. He posseses a keen sense of humor which is welcomed by his associates during legislative debate.

Charles Edward Green, Jr.

Mr. Green was born in Richmond, Virginia. The son of a Methodist minister, he received his education at Randolph Macon Academy, Randolph Macon College, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy.

He owns and operates his own pharmacy in Bedford, Virginia.

MCV Needs—Virginia Opportunities

R. Blackwell Smith, Jr.

The major gap in the Medical College of Virginia's physical plant can be bridged in the next biennium by General Assembly action to implement Virginia's opportunities to meet a long-standing need and at the same time prepare now for the demands of a rapidly expanding population.

The Legislative session of 1960, therefore, is one of tremendous importance to our institution and to all those interested in medical education and related training facilities. One of the decisions it will be called upon to make is whether to appropriate the money to build our proposed medical education building.

The request for $4,400,000 in State funds is now pending before Governor Almond and his Advisory Board on the Budget. An additional $1,378,000 is expected to be made available through federal matching funds for research facilities. This project, of such vital importance to the future of MCV, was labeled "Priority Number 1" among our capital outlay projects for the 1960-62 biennium.

The new building, which will be located on the north half of the block between Eleventh and Twelfth Streets, fronting on Marshall, will provide at long last the educational center for the school of medicine that is a prerequisite to its development and expansion along the lines that will most effectively serve the needs of the people of Virginia.

The General Assembly of 1958 recognized the need for the building in appropriating $225,000 for plans; and the Governor further recognized the urgency of the project in allotting approximately $106,000 additional for acquisition of the remaining parcels of land needed for the site. The land area has all been acquired and the College will be prepared to move forward without delay once the Legislature has acted favorably on the construction appropriation. The preliminary plans for the structure have been approved and the architects are preparing working drawings and specifications.

The time element is a significant consideration. Even with favorable action by the Legislature next year, it will be 1963 before the building can be erected and occupied. When the request for the State appropriation of $4,400,000 was placed before the Governor and his Advisory Board in September, spokesmen for the College emphasized that the institution was now at the crossroads and that this building is essential to our ability to maintain an approved educational program in medicine. It was further pointed out that only through the facilities which the structure will provide, will MCV be able to expand its enrollment in medicine to meet the increasing demands for physicians which an expanding population will surely bring.

The medical education building will be the most significant addition to our physical plant since the erection of the 17-story MCV hospital 19 years ago. Such a structure has been needed for many years and its realization will bring the answer to an ever more pressing problem. The school of medicine, particularly in the past few years, has found it quite evident that adequate housing for the faculty and adequate teaching facilities are imperative if the requisite corps of instructors is to be recruited and retained and if the College is to be in position to meet its obligations in the field of medical education.

With ten floors above ground and basement and sub-basement levels, the building will house most of the basic science departments and provide for the first time a real headquarters for the clinical medical faculty. The laboratory and classroom facilities will permit expansion of the entering classes in medicine from 84 to 128, which is a factor of major import in relation to medical service and education needs in Virginia. The improved basic science facilities will also be of great benefit to the programs of the other major schools of the College.

For many years the basic science departments have been staffed by full-time faculty, active in investigative pursuits. However, the clinical departments, with some exceptions, have been staffed by practicing physicians of the area who have given generously of their time to the educational effort at MCV. Advances in medical science have necessitated the development in the clinical departments of a nucleus of full-time faculty, sufficiently free of private practice responsibilities to carry on investigative programs and provide the leadership and direction required for sound education in the clinical medical fields. It was in recognition of these needs that the General Assembly, at the 1958 session, provided funds to begin implementation of the full-time clinical faculty idea and took the initial step toward providing the requisite physical facilities, i.e. the medical education building.

In its planning, every effort has been made to apply the most advanced principles in medical education. Dr. George Harrell, dean of medicine at the University of Florida and a recognized national authority on planning and architecture for medical education, has served as our consultant from the very beginning of the building plans. In addition, we have had the continuous benefit of the advice and counsel of Mr. Kenneth Weimer, the State architect, and the able guidance of our own personnel in the school of medicine and our division of grounds and buildings. Dr. William F. Maloney, the dean of medicine, has devoted an enormous amount of time and energy to the development of the plans in keeping with our needs, the probable funds available, and the latest trends in medical education.

The City of Richmond is developing plans for a downtown civic center and the MCV medical education building will tie in beautifully with this development, both as to location and style of architecture. Representatives of MCV, the Commonwealth of Virginia, and the City are coordinating ideas so that not only the medical education building but other structures to be erected in the future may fit into overall patterns relating to building sites, traffic flow, et cetera.

The high priority accorded the medical education building in our budget requests is made possible by the fact that the principal capital needs of our other major schools have been more adequately met heretofore. We now are trying to bring the facilities of the school of medicine up to a corresponding level.

There are other capital outlay requests which we hope will receive favorable consideration at the hands of the Governor and the General Assembly. One of the major ones in the College division is a request for temperature and humidity control in the stack room of the Tompkins-McCaw Library. The scope and value of our library collections are such that this project to protect them merits the earliest possible attention.

Education Building

There are a number of important projects in the Hospital division, but perhaps the most urgent is that asking $125,000 to complete the alterations and renovations of St. Philip hospital.

The consolidated capital outlay requests, for College and Hospital divisions, total approximately $6,000,000. Alumni and friends of the College will have the opportunity between now and January to make known to the Governor and members of the General Assembly their interest in these requests and the urgency of favorable action to enable MCV to perform in a creditable manner the job assigned it by the Legislature. The requests represent a long accumulation of needs, which should be met without delay. The General Assembly, the Governor, and other State officials have demonstrated by past actions their understanding and appreciation of these problems; and it is earnestly hoped that they will find the means to advance at this important juncture the major programs are under way.

About The Cover

Mr. Green is active in the affairs of many groups, professional as well as civic and benevolent associations. He is a past president of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association (1950) and the Bedford Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Methodist Church and has been a member of the House since 1954. His sparkling personality adds to the delight of any occasion and his enthusiasm for a project has a way of "rubbing off" on his associates.

Edward Ellis Haddock, M.D.

Dr. Haddock was born in Wilmington, N. C. He was educated at Randolph Macon Academy, University of Richmond, and the Medical College of Virginia. He is a general practitioner of medicine and has been president of both the Richmond Academy of General Practice and the Virginia Academy of General Practice. He has served on the Richmond City Council and is a former mayor of the City of Richmond. He has been a member of the Senate since 1956.

An avid baseball fan, Dr. Haddock worked hard with other citizens to get International League baseball in the City of Richmond. He is active in many other groups, both professional and fraternal, and a lay leader of the Methodist Church.

James Davis Hagood, M.D.

Dr. Hagood was born in Mecklenburg County, Virginia, and was educated at Warrenton Academy, Warrenton, N. C., and the Medical College of Virginia school of medicine. He is a general practitioner and makes his home in Clover, Virginia. He is a past president of the Virginia Academy of General Practice and of the Medical Society of Virginia. Dr. Hagood belongs to a number of fraternal organizations and is a member of the Methodist Church.

In 1950 he was awarded an honorary degree of master of science in general medicine by the Medical College of Virginia, and he is currently serving as a member of the Board of Visitors of the Medical College of Virginia. He also is a vice-president of the Alumni Association and a member of the Board of Trustees. He has been a member of the Senate since 1942 and his quiet, dignified manner has endeared him to all who know him.

Wilbur Talmage Leary

Mr. Leary comes from Portsmouth, Virginia. He was born in South Norfolk, Virginia, and received his education at the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy. He is a registered pharmacist and presently owns and operates drug stores in Portsmouth and Cradock. Mr. Leary is a member of the Baptist Church and is active in fraternal and civic organizations. He serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Cradock and has been a member of the House since 1950.

Joseph C. Moxley, M.D.

Dr. Moxley was born in Alleghany County, N. C., and was educated at the old North Carolina Medical College in Charlotte, N. C., which in 1914 transferred all of its students to the Medical College of Virginia for graduation.

He is a busy practitioner and also a livestock farmer in Grayson County, Virginia, where he makes his home. He is a member of the Methodist Church and originally became a member of the House in 1952 for one term. He has been currently a member since 1956.

Maury Claiborne Newton, M.D.

Dr. Newton was born in Pocahontas, Virginia, and was educated at the University of Richmond, Mercer University, Wake Forest, and the Medical College of Virginia school of medicine.

Dr. Newton is a member of a whole host of professional and fraternal organizations and is active in the Baptist Church of his home town of Narrows. He is an ex-mayor of Narrows, ex-president of the staff at Giles Memorial Hospital, and has been medical examiner of Giles County since 1948. He has been a member of the House since 1956.

W. H. Perry, D.D.S.

Dr. Perry comes from Scott County, Virginia, and practices dentistry in the county seat, Gate City. He was educated at Emory & Henry College, Berea College, Kentucky, and was graduated from the Medical College of Virginia school of dentistry. Dr. Perry is a past president of the Southwest Virginia and East Tennessee Dental Society, and currently is serving as a vice-president and director of the Natural Tunnel, Chasm & Caverns Corporation. He was a member of the House from 1930-38 and was returned to the House twenty years later in 1958. He is a member of the Methodist Church.

Randall Oscar Reynolds, D.D.S.

Dr. Reynolds was born in Pittsylvania County, and practices dentistry in Chatham, Virginia. He was educated at the University of Richmond and the Medical College of Virginia school of dentistry. He is a member of the Baptist Church and the Masons; and he has been a member of the House since 1956.

Richard Maclin Smith

Mr. Smith was born in Brunswick County, Virginia, and was educated at the University of Richmond and the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy. He owns and operates his own pharmacy in Kenbridge. Mr. Smith is a lay leader in the Methodist Church and served as a member of the Kenbridge Town Council for ten years. He is a past president of the Kenbridge Kiwanis Club and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Lunenburg.

Mr. Smith finds time to be a "first rate" cattle farmer and is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the Virginia Aberdeen Angus Association. He is an active member of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association and has been a member of the House since 1954.

William Roy Smith

Mr. Roy Smith was born in Petersburg, Virginia, and was educated at the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy. He was elected to Rho Chi, which is pharmacy's equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa, while in pharmacy school, which is an honor that only comes to exceptional students.

A drug manufacturer, he is president of Physicians Products Co., Inc. A man with boundless energy, he has served his community well in various fraternal, civic, and benevolent associations. He is a past president of the Petersburg Lions Club and in 1949 was the recipient of Petersburg's Distinguished Service Award. He has been active in the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association and in the Episcopal Church. He is the brother of M.C.V.'s president, R. Blackwell Smith, Jr. He currently is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Alumni Association and has been a member of the House since 1952.

Edward Eugene Willey

Senator Willey was born in Frederick County, Virginia, and spent his early years in Front Royal, Virginia. He was educated in the public schools and was graduated from the Medical College of Virginia school of pharmacy. He owns and operates his own pharmacy in Richmond.

Mr. Willey possesses a dynamic personality and his leadership ability has been recognized by the many fraternal, professional, and civic organizations he has served. He is a former city councilman and has been active in city affairs in almost every capacity in the administrative arm of the government. In 1955 he was chosen as "Pharmacist of the Year" by the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association and he served this Association as president in 1951. He is a former vice-president of the Alumni Association and currently is president of the Richmond Chapter of the Alumni Association. He is a Methodist and has been a member of the Senate since 1952.

Ralph M. Ware compiled the biographical data on our alumni in the General Assembly for which we are most grateful.

Porter Paisley Vinson—1890-1959

The death of Doctor Vinson on August 28 at Rochester, Minnesota, where he had gone for a medical check up among old scenes and friends, was a real shock to his colleagues as well as his family. Though recently complaining a bit to his intimates, he was active to the hour of his departure from Richmond.

Doctor Vinson grew up in Davidson, North Carolina, was educated there and at the University of Maryland, with intern and residency training at Trudeau Sanitarium, Montreal General Hospital, and at the Mayo Clinic.

After twenty years as chief of bronchoscopy at the Mayo Clinic, Doctor Vinson came to Richmond in 1936 to head this service at the Medical College of Virginia. His great energy, jovial spirit, capacity for making friends, great professional competence, and dedication to the College made him a real factor in its development over the past twenty-three years.

Many appearances before medical groups and more than one hundred published papers account in part for the widespread recognition of Doctor Vinson's part in the development of his specialty.

He has left a rich heritage, both professional and personal, for colleagues and the group of men he trained in the newer field of endoscopy. His Christian character, too, set an example for all who knew him. His operating room at the College will be named as a memorial to him.

We Have Two Projects Now!

The Alumni Association of the Medical College of Virginia has recently purchased the house at 1107 East Clay Street, next to the Alumni House. As the Association grows with time, we plan to use this building for future expansion. We feel that we were most fortunate in obtaining this property for the sum of $13,500. Present plans call for renting the house this year to Theta Kappa Psi medical fraternity.

We also plan to continue our payments to the College at the rate of $10,000 per year until we have paid the entire $100,000 for the Alumni Lounges in the student dormitories. We have $80,000 to go on this commitment.

Both of these projects, we feel, are most worthwhile as the one contributes to the welfare of the students and the other to the welfare of our alumni. The Alumni Lounges continue to be a place of relaxation for the students and they tell us they have sincerely appreciated this gift from the alumni.

Needless to say, we shall need the help of all of our alumni to make these payments. The end of the year is rapidly approaching and that old bugaboo "income tax" will be facing us. Remember that your contributions to the Alumni Association are tax-deductible and there could be no better cause than the Alumni Association of your alma-mater.

'Round The Circuit

Richmond Chapter

The Richmond Chapter of the Alumni Association held its fall get-together on October 1 at the Hotel John Marshall. The host for the cocktail party was Bill Garter, P'29, and his Churchill Pharmaceuticals Company. We are most grateful to him for this sponsorship. It was a lively party and the John Marshall did a splendid job on the buffet. The food was good and abundant. This has become a yearly affair and those of you who have missed it, plan to come to the spring party as well as the fall of '60 party. We promise you a pleasant evening. The officers and board with some of our other good alumni strived to make this party the success that it was.

Fort Worth Chapter

"The Fort Worth alumni of MCV met on August 27 and decided to plan a luncheon for all the MCV graduates who are in Texas at the State Medical Association Convention in Fort Worth next April," writes Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, Jr., M'34. His group will meet again in November to make further plans for the luncheon. This was a spontaneous thing, this gathering together of our MCV alumni in Fort Worth, and the Alumni Association is delighted by their efforts. To those of you there and in other places, we pledge our full cooperation in your efforts. We believe that the friendship engendered through these meetings will prove worthwhile both to you and the Alumni Association. Hats off to Fort Worth!

Medical Society Alumni Dinner

The Alumni Association had its annual cocktail party and dinner at the meeting of the Medical Society of Virginia on October 6. The party was held at the Shenandoah Club in Roanoke with Dr. Rufus P. Ellett, Jr., M'44, as chairman. This famous old Roanoke club in its new setting was an ideal spot for our party and with hard-working Dr. Ellett as chairman, it had to be a success. This was our first dinner on Tuesday night and we must admit that a lot of our stand-bys took off for home "to keep their shops." Those who stayed enjoyed the party and the remarks of the brass in attendance, namely, R. Reginald Rooke, alumni president; Carter O. Lowance, assistant president; and William F. Maloney, dean of

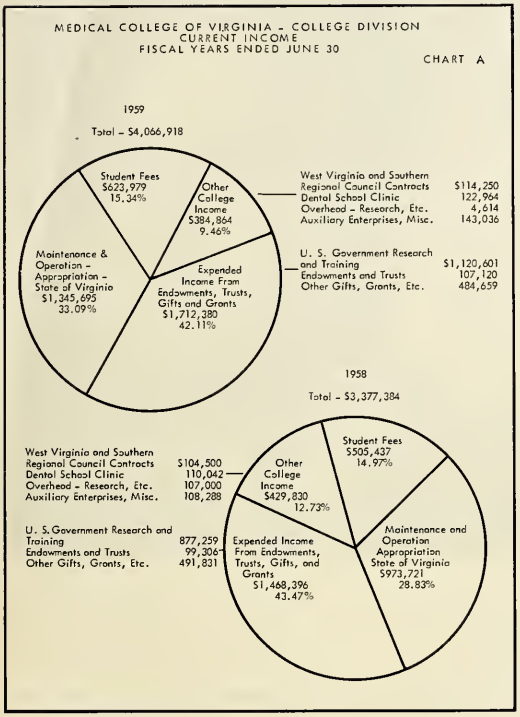
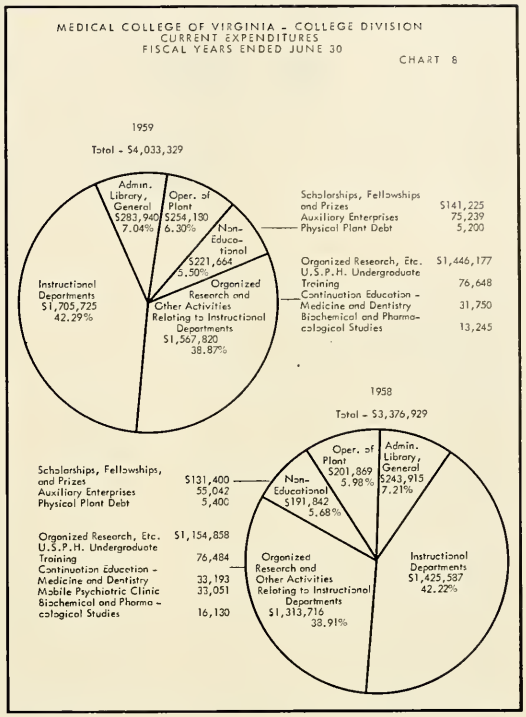
College Income and Expenditures for the Past Year





Excerpts of interest from the "Annual Report of the Comptroller, MCV," for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959

MCV has an endowment account with a book value of $2,291,034 and a market value of $3,207,069. In addition to this endowment account directly controlled by the College, the College is the recipient of trust funds from Mrs. Wilkins C. Williams, Mr. A. D. Williams, Messrs. Isaac and Frank Davenport, and Mr. Arthur Graham Glasgow. The book value of the equity of the College in such trust funds is approximately $4,773,173.

Always of interest is the cost of education. The report states, "Studies were made to enable a comparison of student per capita costs in the last fiscal year with those of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1958. In the school of medicine, the cost increased from $1,726 per student to $2,245, an increase of $519. In the school of dentistry, the cost increased from $1,590 per student to $1,671, an increase of $81. In the school of pharmacy, the cost increased from $796 per student to $1,002, an increase of $206. Increases in departmental salaries and indirect expenses were the major factors for increased cost as shown in the above three schools. In the school of physical therapy, the cost increased from $1,734 per student to $2,314, an increase of $580, due principally to a decrease in enrollment. In the school of nursing, excluding the associate program, the cost increased from $747 per student to $989, an increase of $242, due to an increase in departmental salaries and indirect expenses. In the associate program, which was opened in September, 1958, the cost per student for the year was $999." The tuition paid by the students in the various schools was as follows: medicine, Virginia students, $600; non-Virginia students, $900; dentistry, Virginia students, $600, non-Virginia students, $950; pharmacy, Virginia students, $375, non-Virginia students, $575; physical therapy, Virginia students, $400, non-Virginia students, $500; nursing, baccalaureate program, Virginia students, $150, non-Virginia students, $200; associate program, Virginia students, $100, non-Virginia students, $100. These figures show what a contrast there is between the cost of tuition and the actual cost of educating the student.

The Man of the Hour

R. Reginald Rooke

The soft-spoken, unassuming president of the MCV Alumni Association has accepted another job—typically, one without pay, and, again typically, one of broad responsibilities.

All his life R. Reginald Rooke has been putting his shoulder to the wheel whenever it was needed to accelerate projects and activities of meritorious nature in his community, in his state, and on the national scene. His interest and his willingness to serve are born of deep-seated convictions that a citizen has continuing obligations to his colleagues and his fellow men that can only be discharged by sharing his talents, whatever they may be, in the common causes for the advancement of the public well being.

It was in recognition of these commendable characteristics, as well as his long and distinguished service to the organization, that his 36,000 fellow druggists elected him president of the National Association of Retail Druggists at their annual convention last month in St. Louis, Missouri. As such, he will find additional heavy demands on his time in meeting the travel and administrative duties of the new position. But all of this "Reggie" will take in stride, as indicated in a recent interview with a newspaperman.

"I used to think I'd retire at 60," he said. "But then I asked myself 'What would I do?'

"So I kept right on doing the same thing—and now I have this national retail druggists' job."

Reggie Rooke has been no stranger to hard work and strenuous schedules since his youth and his experience of growing up on a Southside Virginia farm as one of ten children. He was born at Ante in Brunswick County, a village which he readily admits most Virginians wouldn't recognize or be able to locate by name—but the fact of his having lived there has become an item of pride to his old community which has followed his career with keen interest and gratification. It was at Ante that he first whiffed the aromas of the drugstore that finally lured him into the profession that became his life's work. It was not an easy road, but between public school sessions he worked on the farm and in a drugstore at Emporia to earn many of the dollars that later financed his training in pharmacy at the Medical College of Virginia.

As president of the MCV Alumni Association, he has visited every alumni chapter—some of them several times—and championed programs to enlist more alumni interest in their alma mater with constructive support of tangible, worthwhile programs. As one example, the Association during his presidency has continued to press the $100,000 Alumni Lounge project in the new student residence halls, a tremendously valuable adjunct to student life in the developing campus to the northwest of the main college building area.

His alumni work is but one of the numerous activities outside the realm of his private business. In his own community, he has been a member of the Richmond Board of Health for many years; he assisted in drafting the new charter under which the City's modernized government now operates; he is a past president of the Richmond Lions Club; he is past president of the Richmond Pharmaceutical Association.

His statewide honors include two terms as president of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, an unusual accolade, and the current presidency of the Virginia Retail Federation.

He has been an officer of the National Association of Retail Druggists for 11 years, starting out as fourth vice-president.

Exemplifying his leadership qualities and his ability to get things moving was his service as president of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association. It was during his administration and under the impetus of his quiet energy that the Association established a central headquarters with a full-time executive secretary, which continues today as the hub of the Association's many activities. He has continued as treasurer and a member of the board of the State Association since his second term as president ten years ago.

In between his civic and professional activities outside the drugstore, he has managed to operate a successful pharmacy since 1929. After his studies at MCV, he worked briefly as a registered pharmacist

School of Pharmacy

The school of pharmacy is again filled to capacity this year and a total of 295 full-time students registered in September. Of this group there are 82 freshmen, 86 sophomores, 71 juniors, and 56 seniors. We want to thank all of you who directed students to the school of pharmacy for it is especially helpful to have students referred to us by our alumni.

Last year our assistant professor of pharmacy, Dr. Joseph Krezanoski, who had been with us three years, left to accept an industrial position in California. After some intensive searching we have found a very capable person in Mr. Anthony Simonelli who will join our staff around January 1. Mr. Simonelli is a native of Connecticut and received his undergraduate training at the University of Connecticut before going on to the University of Wisconsin for graduate work.

I wish to remind you that this is the last year of the four year program in pharmacy in which we are accepting students directly from high school for four years of college work. All high school graduates of 1960 and after must attend five years of college in order to receive a degree in pharmacy. Of this five years no less than three must be spent in a school of pharmacy. In September of 1960 we will accept a few transfer students for the sophomore year who will graduate in 1963 under the four year program. In addition we will accept a group of students who have attended college for one year but do not meet our requirements for sophomore standing in the four year program. These students will graduate in 1964. The basic pre-pharmacy course includes 8 semester hours of college chemistry or biology, 6 semester hours of college algebra and trigonometry, 6 semester hours of college English and 12 semester hours of liberal arts subjects other than the physical sciences or economics and sociology. You will note that the basic difference between these prerequisite subjects and our former prerequisite subjects for sophomore standing is the inclusion of the liberal arts material.

We are very hopeful that we will obtain a large number of students who meet our requirements for the five year program. With your continued help there is no question that we will succeed in this endeavor.

Warren E. Weaver, Dean

School of Nursing

The beginning of a new academic year always brings interest in enrollment statistics. Ninety-three students entered the two degree programs in September, 1959. The distribution was as follows: baccalaureate degree, 55; associate degree, 38. The total enrollment of the school was 237.

Certain other statistics, recently analyzed, reveal some interesting data. As reported in January, 1959, the Medical College of Virginia is the largest nursing school in the State of Virginia. At this same time, 54% of all students in the three baccalaureate degree programs in the State were enrolled at the Medical College.

Our records indicate also that over 700 graduates of MCV are living or working in the State of Virginia; 30% of the registered nurses employed by MCV Hospital and 50% of the faculty are graduates of our school; 44% of the staffs of local and state public health agencies are graduates. This is an impressive record of contributions to the State.

The long tradition of accomplishment by the MCV school of nursing serves as an inspiration and challenge for the future.

Doris B. Yingling, Dean

School of Medicine

The new academic year began with an enrollment of 351 students in medicine. The first-year class of 84 students includes three women; thirty-six colleges are represented. Although the majority are from Virginia, the entering freshmen come from fifteen states and the District of Columbia. Twenty-two are married and have a total of fifteen children.

The actual number of applicants remained as it has for the past four or five years. A review of selection procedures and standards is contemplated for this coming year and is particularly pertinent in the face of our continued disappointment in the sparsity of highest-quality applicants. A somewhat higher attrition rate in this year's freshman class reflects the experience in other of the nation's medical schools. It also indicates our recognition of responsibility to the public to maintain standards yet give all qualified Virginians an opportunity.

Already, in primary and secondary schools are the students who will double the college population within the next ten years. Population estimates agree that maximum expansion of existing medical schools still will necessitate the construction of fifteen to twenty new medical schools if the desirable physician-population ratio is not to fall significantly behind present-day health standards. Thus, we continue to plan facilities and faculty to accommodate 50% more students, or 128 per class.

This will be possible only if we can build the medical education building. Plans continue to progress. Application for matching funds in the amount of $1,378,000 is before the Health Research Facilities Committee. The request for the remaining $4,400,000 is before the Governor and the Legislature as the number one capital outlay request of the College. Every support you can give to this request to the Legislature will be vital to success.

During the past year, the students, themselves, made a highly significant step forward in assuming responsibility for their own government by writing and approving the constitution for the medical student body. This establishes the Medical Student Council as a responsible governing group.

The Student American Medical Association chapter continued to develop its program of extra-curricular educational projects by the sponsorship of monthly faculty panel discussions on pertinent medical subjects and by a special program aimed at interesting and assisting the medical student wives.

Enthusiasm for the medical student research fellowship program continued. Applicants were again far in excess of the twenty-nine fellowships provided by the National Institutes of Health, the National Foundation, the Tobacco Industry Research Committee, Lederle Laboratories, and the A. D. Williams Fund. Such enthusiasm for continued application to activity in medical science, and particularly that involving original thought and application of ideas, is heartening.

In all, there are 177 physicians involved, either as intern or resident, in the advanced programs in various clinical fields.

Dr. Huffman Elected

Dr. Jacob Camden Huffman of Buckhannon was installed as president of the West Virginia State Medical Association at the 92nd Annual Meeting at The Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, August 22.

He attended the public schools of Webster Springs, Webster County, West Virginia, before he enrolled at Marshall College and West Virginia University. Four years were spent in Richmond at the Medical College of Virginia, where he received his medical degree in the centennial class of 1938, and there was a member of Phi Beta Pi Medical Fraternity. Jake, as his friends know him, was described by one of his classmates as a "nice guy" as well as being a good student. He has twice been president of the West Virginia Chapter of the MCV Alumni Association. His rotating internship was in the Ohio Valley Hospital, Wheeling, West Virginia, following which he located in Buckhannon in 1939.

In mid 1942, he entered the United States Army as a first lieutenant and was located at Fort Knox and Camp Atterbury. He was assigned to the 317th Station Hospital and served overseas for three years. In 1946 he resumed private practice in Buckhannon.

In 1936, he married Kathleen Berthy, who has been active in Medical Auxiliary work and who is the immediate past president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the West Virginia State Medical Association. They are the parents of a daughter, Kathleen, and a son Jacob, Jr., both at home.

Class News

1909 UCM A letter from Willie C. Marehead (N) of Waynesboro, Virginia tells that she is recuperating from the injury which kept her from attending the Golden Reunion of her class at MCV in June. She was also unable to attend the golden anniversary of the opening of Catawba Sanatorium. She was the first superintendent of nurses there and the only living person who officiated there in 1909.

Walter E. Vest (M) of Huntington, West Virginia, received the Association's Professional Award for "outstanding public service" at the annual meeting of the West Virginia Public Health Association meeting in Charleston June 11-13.

1923 Leta M. White (M) of Gaffney, South Carolina, received the Algernon-Sullivan Award at the commencement exercises of Furman University.

1924 Fernando Ordonez (D) has been elected president of the Puerto Rican Dental Association.

1925 Gladys Smithwick (M) is in the United States until June when she will return to the Congo. She visited the Alumni House on October 5.

1926 Edward Myers (D) of Norfolk, Virginia, is a new member of the Board of Visitors of the Medical College of Virginia. He is past president of the Tidewater Dental Association and a member of the Board of the MCV Foundation. He served as a member of the executive committee of the Virginia State Dental Association this past year.

Rafael Rodriquez-Malina (M) and his wife gave a cocktail party on August 14 to honor the new dean of the school of medicine of the University of Puerto Rico and his wife. The new dean is Joseph R. Vivas (M'34).

1927 W. Linwood Ball (M) of Richmond, Virginia, was re-elected as one of the two delegates to the American Medical Association convention from the Medical Society of Virginia at the annual meeting in Roanoke in October.

1928 Wilbur E. Hoffman (M) of Charleston, West Virginia, writes that "he has been elected chairman of the West Virginia Section of the ACOB and GYN. He was the first physician elected to this office in West Virginia."

1929 William L. Cooke (M) of Charleston, West Virginia, president of the Potomac Chapter of the American College of Chest Physicians, served as moderator of the morning session at the annual meeting at The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, on October 9.

1931 Robena C. Andersan (N) completed a 39-week hospital administration course at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, in June. Col. Anderson was trained in the administration of a large, modern hospital.

1932 Margaret Mitchell (Diet.), cafeteria director at the Medical College of Virginia, resigned in August to devote full time to her home.

Minnie Esther Thorne (N) of Elm City, North Carolina, was happily surprised when Dorothy Grum Amberman (N'31) visited her recently. Mrs. Amberman, who is now living in Long Island, New York, has four children, Joan, Douglas, Lee, and Linwood. She is a supervisor in a hospital in Long Island. Mrs. Amberman and Miss Thorne had not seen each other since they attended the World's Fair in August, 1940.

Miss Hamner Honored

Miss Nora Spencer Hamner, Richmond resident and the executive director of the Richmond Tuberculosis Association for forty-one years, was honored October 2, by becoming the sixth Southern Tuberculosis Conference Award recipient, an accolade reserved for outstanding service to TB control in the South. Representatives from the fourteen southern states in the Conference group gathered in Biloxi, Mississippi, for the annual three-day meeting on the medical and social problems caused by tuberculosis in the South, and applauded Miss Hamner roundly as her choice was announced. The award, made at the Conference's final session, was presented by W. W. Wendt, executive director of the Virginia State association, who said that "Miss Hamner epitomized that brand of feminine courage and selfless devotion to an idea which has earned southern womanhood honor and respect the nation over. She has spent her life battling for a tuberculosis-free Richmond. Her example has inspired us all."

Born at Warren, Virginia, Miss Hamner was graduated from the school of nursing of the Medical College of Virginia and was the first woman to receive an honorary degree, master of science in nursing, from that same institution. She is the only woman ever appointed by the Governor to serve on the Board of Visitors of the Medical College of Virginia and the only woman ever elected to serve on its executive committee. She successfully established and operated a summer when chest colds accompany head colds

NEW ISOCLOR™

- effective . . . because d-isoephedrine combines both nasal and bronchiol decongestant actions[1]—together with the histamine blocking action of chlorpheniramine.
- fast . . . clears air passages in 10-20 minutes. Relieves stuffiness, swelling, discharge. Prevents excessive post-nasal drip and resulting night cough.
- safe . . . Laboratory tests reveal little effect on CNS or pressor stiumlation.[2] Minimal daytime drowsiness or interference with sleep.

medicine. As one good U of V alumnus says each year, duty calls him to their party but he'd rather go to the MCV party because "they're more fun." What better accolade could you have!

West Virginia Chapter

The West Virginia Chapter of the alumni gathered on August 21 for a cocktail party at The Greenbrier. Dr. Marion Jarrett, M'39, was chairman for the party and did a splendid job. A goodly number of our West Virginia alumni were present to chat with each other and the alumni president, R. Reginald Rooke; the college representative, Dr. Kinloch Nelson; and the executive secretary. There were, however, a lot of the "regulars" not present at The Greenbrier this year and they were sincerely missed. Dr. Charles M. Scott, M'40, was elected president for the coming year. We feel sure that he will do an excellent job in this capacity.

There, in his unimposing office, Reggie Rooke concentrates his apparently boundless energies and packages them into a stream of invisible vials which continue to flow into many streams of community life to provide the vitality and the push that only men like him can generate . . . few can match his zest . . . none can surpass his loyalty and dedication.

School of Graduate Studies

The academic year 1959-60 begins with a total enrollment of 42 students in the school of graduate studies. Of these, 27 are candidates for graduate degrees, seven are special students not yet accepted for a particular degree but carrying out graduate work. Three are on the inactive list having completed formal course work but not having yet satisfied all requirements for a particular degree. During the summer of 1959, five exchange students, all candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, took course work at the Medical College of Virginia in the department of biophysics and biometrics. It is of interest that during the past three years, there has been a steady increase in the number and proportion of graduate students working for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Thus in 1957-58, there were 12 such students; in 1958-59, there were 17; and during the present session there are 23. This represents a growing emphasis on more advanced research and teaching at the Medical College and on the preparation of educating investigators and teachers in the medical sciences at the highest levels of specialization.

During the year 1958-59, the National Science Foundation announced the awarding of one pre-doctoral fellowship to a graduate student to work at the Medical College of Virginia school of graduate studies. This award was given to Mrs. Marlene B. Barnard, a graduate student in the department of chemistry and pharmaceutical chemistry, and she is at present holding this fellowship. During the present academic year, the National Science Foundation has awarded a total of ten Cooperative Predoctoral Fellowships to the school of graduate studies, and, in addition, five summer fellowships for graduate teaching assistants. Applications for the predoctoral fellowships must be in the dean's office by November 1, 1959, and for the summer fellowships by December 1, 1959. These fellowships are also for students wishing to work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in one of the medical sciences and will be awarded to begin either on June 1 or September 1, 1960. Students now in undergraduate college programs are eligible to apply.

As a sequel to the college science conference held at the Medical College of Virginia under the auspices of the school of graduate studies on March 20 and 21, 1959, at which advancement of science teaching in Virginia was discussed, plans are now being made for a meeting of the group chairmen of the conference to draw up further plans for a report and further efforts to promote opportunities for the education of investigators and teachers at the advanced levels, with particular emphasis on the life sciences. This meeting will be made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The graduate student body organization held its first meeting of the school year and elected officers. It plans to arrange a program of regular meetings throughout the year with special talks by members of the faculty, students, or guests.

School of Dentistry

Dear Dental Alumnus:

The Centennial Celebration of the American Dental Association recalls to mind the beginning of formal programs for dental education, the first of which was established just nineteen years before the American Dental Association was formed. The first formal program for the education of dentists covered two terms of four months each, a total of eight months. Only didactic courses were offered in the realm of clinical dentistry. No clinical training was included. Practical experience in the clinical skills of dentistry was obtained under preceptors.

The current four-session pattern for dental education was adopted forty-one years ago. Since that time the volume of knowledge and the number of skills utilized in dentistry have multiplied many fold. While a few of the elementary sciences are now included in the predental-academic programs it is nevertheless a fact that we are trying to educate and train students for the practice of dentistry today—with its vastly increased requirements—within the same time limits established over four decades ago. This is proving to be quite a challenge to those of us engaged in dental education. For example, we are now giving our students training in the use of high speed operating instruments. This is only one of the many new technics and skills which we have added to our training program during the last two or three years. Discoveries and inventions related to dental practice are being made at such a rapid rate that we must now give serious consideration to the dental curriculum in terms of a basic revision which will enable dental schools to prepare dental students for practice today and tomorrow, not for yesterday.

We are now offering our undergraduate dental courses in four sessions of thirty-three weeks each. The sessions are divided into three terms of eleven weeks. In recent years we have also operated our clinics during the months of June and July with junior and senior students attending on a voluntary basis. We think that we are doing the best educational job possible within the framework of this pattern. We are sure that we could do a better job under an extended program. To that end I have started discussions with a few other dental school deans on the proposition of revising the time pattern for undergraduate dental education to cover four sessions of forty-four weeks each, the longer sessions to be divided into four quarters. All admit the desirability of such a revision. However, the obstacles to its implementation are numerous and imposing. They include such considerations as larger faculties, revised salary schedules, increases in tuition, better provisions for student loans to assist the needy students to meet the greater costs of their educations, etc. These factors may

Send Something Different This Christmas

"The Scarab Gift Package," a collection of Miss Lucy's famed Table Delicacies from Virginia.

You will want to frame the cover, with its striking illustration of The Egyptian Building—so be certain to order "The Scarab" for your own enjoyment.

And no gift will be more welcome, wherever you send it. In the box are: 3 ten ounce jars of delicious and unusual pickles, a big 21 oz. brandied plum pudding, a cut crystal jar of Miss Lucy's Manor Royale, a lip smacking sauce made from a 200 year old recipe; 2 five ounce jars of fruit-rich jellies—and a 14 oz. package of Williamsburg Crystal Butter Mints.

The best part comes last: Your Alumni Association receives a donation of 10%, not only on The Scarab Gift Package—but on all 50 of Miss Lucy's Gifts shown in the catalogue sent to you recently. If you did not receive your complete catalogue—write us for it today!

give you some idea of the general magnitude of problems facing dental education. The challenge of today bearing on the future of our profession is, indeed, intriguing.

HOMECOMING programs will be mailed next month. The dates for HOMECOMING 1960 are January 25 and 26. Hotel reservations should be made now.

Best wishes, always.

Dietetic Internship

On September 1, 1959, ten young women received certificates from the hospital division of MCV for satisfactory work accomplished during the year's internship. To the alumnae prior to 1952, you will be interested to know that we have been having a graduation dinner for our interns. Mr. C. P. Cardwell, Jr., our director of hospitals, presents the certificates; and we have a planned program for this special occasion. It has become a very gala occasion and adds to the interest and importance of the year with us. We feel that it helps to make this group feel a real part of MCV.

Among the group who graduated, Miss Shirley Gibbs, Miss Joyce Smith, and Mrs. Betty Davis will return this month as members of our dietary staff at MCV.

We began in September with a new group of dietetic interns; nine in number. Two of the girls are from Puerto Rico. We plan an interesting program for the year and will attempt to keep you informed through this media. We hope all our alumnae will be interested and keep in touch.

Twenty-five years have passed since the fall of 1934, with an increase in x-ray activities on all fronts, the most recent and satisfying on the teaching side.

Alumni, who recall the cramped, humid, sleepy, late afternoon x-ray sections in the front basement room of the old Memorial Hospital with its handmade viewing boxes, will find instead a cold bright 8 A.M. Saturday session. These are held for the whole class throughout the third year with roentgenograms magnified on an illuminated "Gordon" projector and described with the aid of a microphone in the large George Ben Johnston auditorium. On Mondays at 1 P.M., x-ray conferences on current cases in the same setting continue throughout the school year for the combined third and fourth year classes and staff. The x-ray department likewise participates in the Friday 1 P.M., clinicopathological conferences and the Saturday, 10:30 A.M., grand rounds of the surgical service.

The 1920 model, mechanically rectified, single radiographic-fluoroscopic x-ray machines which thrashed in each of the colored and white "x-ray rooms" have long been replaced and added to by two score of others, several of which the administration has again planned to replace, even at this writing. Three x-ray therapy machines have been added in that quarter century; in 1935, 200,000 volts and in 1941, 135,000 and 400,000 volt installations. The administration has contracted for a 2,000,000 volt apparatus for early 1960.

A very fortunate addition to the x-ray faculty was made in 1956 when Commander Francis W. Chambers, Jr., U.S.N, was appointed professor of clinical radiology. As a physicist, a Diplomate of the American Board of Radiology and a Fellow of the American College of Radiology, he was added to help in the instruction of radiology residents and for the calibration of x-ray apparatus. His training in electrical engineering, physics, and whole body radiation of larger animals (swine and steers) at the U. S. Naval Research Institute has been particularly helpful to problems in the department of surgery. Commander Chambers has been using an industrial General Electric 2,000,000 volt x-ray apparatus for whole body irradiation since 1949 and for the last few years has added to that experience the use of a 40 source Cobalt 60 unit especially designed for the same purpose. He has been able to lend his apparatus and facilities and experience in irradiation of dogs. He has also helped in the planning of the installation of the new 2,000,000 volt General Electric X-Ray unit for clinical therapy and investigation at the Medical College of Virginia.

School of Medical Technology

Training for medical technologists has been offered by the Medical College of Virginia for over thirty years. Prior to 1952, the program consisted largely of apprenticeship with some theoretical instruction in the hospital laboratories. Students were admitted several times a year and eighteen months were required to complete the training period. Largely through the efforts of Miss Hazel Irvin, this rather informal program produced many technologists of great competence.

In September, 1952, the school of medical technology was reorganized in order to effect economy of space and teaching effort and at the same time to expand its facilities to meet the ever increasing demand for trained technologists. Our school presently has a capacity of fifty students a year admitted in two classes—September and March. Although it is the third largest school in the United States, the March quota of twenty-five students is never filled.

The full time teaching staff consists of Miss Lena Thomas, M.S. in medical technology from Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan, who joined the staff in 1957 and Mrs. Carol Hagy, B.S., a newly acquired instructor.

Students spend six months in the classroom—laboratory located in the basement of the Wood Memorial Building. Here they are taught the use of the most modern laboratory equipment and are instructed by means of daily lectures, conferences, and supervised laboratory exercises in basic and applied laboratory practice. Following a comprehensive examination, a second six months of training is given consisting of rotation through the various divisions of the hospital laboratories where techniques are improved and experience under working conditions is gained.

That the course is a good one is attested by the superior performance of our graduates in the National American Society of Clinical Pathologists Registry exam, given in national competition twice a year. Since 1952, we have graduated 157 technologists many of whom in addition to receiving the certificate entitling them to take the national examination have been granted the Bachelor Science degree by the Medical College of Virginia, based on three previous years of college work.

Although the September, 1960, class numbers twenty-five girls, we never have approached a full complement of students in any March class. Recruitment of students is a problem even in this attractive field. The class of 1959 together with the instructors and aided by the Richmond Society of Medical Technologists has prepared twenty-five diagnostic slides of tissue, blood smears, and bacteriologic specimens which will be distributed in high schools and colleges throughout the state in an effort to attract more candidates in the future.

Medical technology offers such a diversity of opportunities that very rarely does a candidate fail to find an area which satisfies her particular interest and aptitudes.

Physical Therapy

Dr. A. Ray Dawson was appointed acting chief of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation on October 9, effective November 1.

He will replace Dr. Herbert W. Park, who had asked that he be relieved of administrative duties so he could devote more time to his position as professor in that department.

Dr. Dawson will continue as chief of service of physical medicine and rehabilitation at McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital. He has been an associate professor in the MCV department for several years.

LEST WE FORGET

1894 William R. Clements (M) of Woodbury, New Jersey, died in Trenton December 31, 1958.

1897 UCM W. H. O. McGehee (D) (M'98) of Washington, D. C., died September 26. He practiced dentistry.

1897 Robert Milton Taliaferro (M) of Lynchburg, Virginia, died November 26, 1958. He was for many years surgeon for the Norfolk and Western Railway and physician for Lynchburg jail.

1898 B. I. Hudkins (M) of Wolf Summit, West Virginia, died June 24. He located for practice at Big Isaac and built a small hospital. It was the first to be located in that part of the state. A cloudburst and the resulting flood destroyed the hospital. He moved to Clarksburg where he became a member of the original staff of St. Mary's Hospital.

1899 UCM Emmett F. Reese, Jr. (M), of Courtland, Virginia, died September 25 at his home. He was owner of and active in the management of the Reese Drug Store. He also was co-owner of Reese Motor Company.

1900 Albert Pilkington (M) of Newtown Square, Pennsylvania, died on February 5.

1904 Page S. Lester (D) of Richmond, Virginia, died in August.

1905 UCM Cullen Samuel Pitt (M) of Richmond, Virginia, died in his sleep on July 10. He served as medical director of the Atlantic Life Insurance Company and the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He was physician for the University of Richmond from 1914 to 1958. A portrait was presented to the school by the alumni on his retirement.

William Sterling Robertson (M) of Charleston, West Virginia, died June 13 following several months' illness. He had postgraduate work at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, and overseas in Berlin and London before locating in Charleston in 1914 for the practice of his specialty of urology.

1908 Meade Stith Brent (M) of Heathsville, Virginia, died July 20. He had served at Central State Hospital, Petersburg, Virginia, since 1909 and retired in 1955. He then moved to his family home in Heathsville. He was an associate professor of mental diseases at the Medical College of Virginia for a number of years and served on the Governor's Advisory Board on Mental Hygiene.

1909 UCM A. Bayne Grubb (M) of Cripple Creek, Virginia, passed away suddenly on September 21 after attending a patient about 5 a.m.

1912 UCM William Leary Stevens (M) of Shiloh, North Carolina, died December 23, 1958. He practiced medicine there until eleven years ago when he retired because of declining health. For nearly 17 years he served as medical examiner and advisor to the local Selective Service board of his county and received the Selective Service medal.

1914 James W. Hannabass (M) of Charles City, Virginia, died July 29.

William G. Wagoner (D) of Bluefield, Virginia, died at his home of a heart attack on August 24.

1916 J. Marshall Lee (M) of Newton Grove, North Carolina, died March 15. He had served as a member of the North Carolina General Assembly.

1917 Lester E. Hackett (M) of Vancouver, Washington, died May 16. He was past president of the staffs of St. Joseph and Vancouver Memorial Hospitals; past president of Clark County Medical Society; and past president of Clark County Medical Service Corporation. He was chief surgeon of the Washington State School of the Deaf. He taught first aid for 20 years to the Boy Scouts of Mt. St. Helens Council and received their highest award in recognition.

1924 Ernest Clay Shull (M), prominent physician of Herndon, Virginia, died May 7. He was founder and first president of the Herndon Rotary Club and served on the school board for over twenty years. He was instrumental in founding the public health clinic in Herndon.

1926 Abraham Joel Blechman (M) of Baltimore, Maryland, died November 8, 1958. He was associated with the Sinai Hospital.

1929 Alfred W. Pennington (M) of Newark, Delaware, died August 9.

1930 Elmer Houck (D) of Lewisburg, West Virginia, died August 2.

1932 Robert Guy Blackwelder (M) died February 1. He was appointed superintendent of the Andrew S. Rowan Memorial Home in 1956. He had been superintendent of the Western State Hospital; formerly associated with the Huntington State Hospital; Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, Maryland; and the Southwestern State Hospital in Marion, Virginia.

Rafael Rufino Muniz (M) of New York City died December 1. He was on the staff of the University Hospital.

Thomas Eldridge Stanley (M) of Richmond, Virginia, died June 3. He had been a staff member of St. Elizabeth's Hospital since 1951. He had practiced for 13 years in Hanover, Louisa, Goochland, and Henrico counties. He had been on the staff of the Newton D. Baker Veterans Administration Hospital in Martinsburg, West Virginia.

Doctor Huffman has served as president of the Central W. Va. Medical Society in a local capacity and is a member of the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital. He has also served as president of the West Virginia Academy of General Practice.

The West Virginia State Medical Association has elected him vice-president four times. He has also served two terms as a member of the Association's Council. He has held the chairmanship of the important UMW Liaison Committee. After serving as first vice-president of the State Medical Association, he was elevated to the office of president-elect in 1958.

Miss Hamner

camp for Richmond's underprivileged children as part of her effort to combat the social blights leading to disease. Miss Hamner worked closely with Pine Camp, the municipal sanatarium, and was largely instrumental in developing its rehabilitation programs.

Miss Hamner has received the Nancy Vance Memorial Nursing Award; a citation from the President of the United States for her work as chairman of nurses' recruitment for the Armed Forces in World War II; the Douglas Southall Freeman Award of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association; and citations by the National Tuberculosis Association and National Conference of Tuberculosis Workers. She is a past president of the Southern Tuberculosis Conference which conferred the award.

Miss Hamner has been foremost in the planning and executing of many projects to help Richmond and Virginia combat tuberculosis and has put in more years of service than any other TB worker in Virginia.
